The College of Charleston, founded in 1770 and chartered in 1785, is a comprehensive institution providing high-quality public education in the arts and sciences, education, and business. It functioned as an independent, non-denominational liberal arts college until 1837, when the City of Charleston began contributing to its upkeep, making it the first municipal college in the nation. In 1918, the College also began receiving support from the County of Charleston. The College returned to private status in 1949. Then during the 1970 session, the S.C. Legislature voted to add the College to the State's system of institutions of higher learning and it was officially transferred to state ownership, July 1, 1970. Effective July 1, 1992, under Act 272, the College established a new component for graduate programs and research grant studies, the Graduate School of the College of Charleston. The College is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the Association of American Colleges, and the American Council on Education. It is a charter member of the Southern University Conference and is on the approved list of the Association of American Universities and of the American Association of University Women. Election Commission, State

2221 Devine St., Box 5987, Columbia 29250

Tel. (803) 734-9060

Created by Sec. 41-29-10, the State Election Commission (SEC) is the chief election agency in South Carolina, and is responsible for overseeing the voter registration and election processes in the State. The SEC maintains the State's computerized statewide voter registration system. The database contains voter registration records for every registered voter in South Carolina. Using this system, the SEC is responsible for printing voter registration lists for all elections held in the State, which average approximately 300 each year. In combination with the driver's license file, the system also serves as the source for jury selection lists in the State. The SEC provides election oversight, including training and advisory services to counties and municipalities to ensure elections are conducted according to law. The SEC administers a mandatory training and certification program for voter registration and election officials. State law mandates the SEC support the statewide electronic voting system. In fulfilling this mandate, the SEC creates election specific database definitions, produces electronic ballots, provides a comprehensive security plan, and conducts training for county election officials and poll managers in the proper use of the system. This training includes printed materials, classroom instruction, and interactive online training. The Agency provides all voter registration and election materials to county election officials and reimburses counties for allowable primary and election expenses. The Agency provides information regarding voter registration and elections to the media, candidates, political parties, special interest groups, and citizens. The SEC coordinates the accumulation and reporting of election results through its website SCVotes.org. The Agency conducts a voter education and outreach initiative known as “Every Vote Matters. Every Vote Counts.” This effort is designed to familiarize voters with the State’s voter registration and election processes and to promote participation in elections. The members of the SEC serve as the State Board of Canvassers after elections to certify election returns, to declare candidates elected, and to sit in a judicial capacity to hear testimony and rule on protests and appeals.

In accordance with Act 1393, 1972, Lander College became on July 1, 1973, a state-supported four-year institution. The university offers a variety of programs leading to baccalaureate degrees in the arts and sciences, an M.Ed. in elementary education, and an M.A.T. in art, English, and science. Lander University traces its origin to the establishment, in 1872, of an academy for young women, in Williamston, by Samuel Lander, a Methodist minister. Governance of the academy was assumed by the S.C. Conference of the Methodist Church in 1898. The academy was moved to Greenwood and renamed Lander College in 1904. In 1951, the County of Greenwood assumed operation of the College, the Methodist conference having discontinued its support. Under Act 272, 1992, Lander College became Lander University on July 1, 1992.
